Reflections:

The primary department of Gyan Bharati School recently organized a meaningful Earth Day celebration on April 20, 2023. The event aimed at raising awareness about environmental conservation and inspiring students to take action for a sustainable future. The activities commenced with a screening of a Elephant Whisperers movie, which sensitized the students about the importance of elephant conservation and the need to protect wildlife habitats. The youngest participants, the little children of class 1, engaged in discussions and drew pictures on how to save the Earth and keep it happy. Their creativity and enthusiasm were truly inspiring. In addition, students of class 1 came together to create a little forest within the school premises, planting trees and contributing to the local ecosystem. The second graders expressed their love for Mother Earth through heartwarming drawings depicting how they care for the environment. Meanwhile, the third graders made promises to Mother Earth, both in writing and through drawings, pledging to take actions such as conserving water, reducing waste, and planting trees.

The students of 4th grade also participated in activity where they made eco-friendly newspaper folders and signs for the school, promoting the concept of upcycling and reducing waste. The fifth graders showcased their talents by designing Earth Day brochures, spreading awareness about environmental issues and ways to protect the planet. The celebrations concluded with engaging performances such as poems and skits on saving the Earth, showcasing the students' creativity and commitment to environmental conservation. Overall, Gyan Bharti School's Earth Day celebration was a resounding success, instilling a sense of responsibility and encouraging students to become conscientious stewards of our planet for a sustainable future.
